Gentlemen:

In answer to your letter of January 22, 1981, the Burlingame Fire Department does use the "Sigalarm" proximity warning device on both of our aerial ladder trucks. We have done do since 1974.

During this period we have not had any accidents involving contact with electrical lines.

These devices have been fairly maintenance free except for a few fuses being replaced and they are very easy for the personnel to operate.

Yours truly,

Raymond C. Marshall
Assistant Chief
